*We shall bear the marks of conflict
That are the testaments of life.*

Marshall Dubin.

The Searchlight

I saw a great white shaft of light
Skyward leaping, earthward sloping;
Across the regions of the night
Forever groping!

I thought how Man's undaunted mind—
Spurred by hope that is supernal—
Explores the firmament to find
A gate to the eternal!

—Daniel Henderson.

In Memoriam

Ralph Hartwig

Class History

February, 1937

In the year 1933 A. D., the rocket-ship Ambition, carrying 309 passengers under the standard Knowledge, set out in pursuit of education to be found on the planet Graduation, across the heavens Roosevelt.

The first stop on the journey was the planet Freshmanius where we met our guides, the Faculty, under the capable leadership of the King of Heavens, James T. Gaffney. Here we were greeted with a huge reception, where the band blared and numerous speakers assured us of our welcome, informing us of the many experiences that awaited us on our journey through the sky. Here we met Athleticus, the Bandsmen, and the Choristers. We also met the loyal subjects of the planet king: Algebra, English, Science; and those children of Language: Latin, German, French, and Spanish. These demanded that a few of us tarry with them a little longer while the rest of us flew merrily on to Sophomoria, a neighboring planet.

Here they gave us a great feast; and we, as the guests of honor, were introduced to the Choir Men and the Orchestralians, whose leader was that famous planet-man, Erhardt Bergstrasser. To make our stay more pleasant our hosts staged for us "The Riddle of Isis", which certainly served its purpose. In addition to the subjects, who were kinsmen of the Freshmanians, we met the most important men of this planet; namely, Geometry, History, and Civics. We had now completed one-half of our journey, pleased with what had gone before, anxious to learn what lay ahead.

The next planet we encountered, one bringing us to the upper heavens, was Juniorius. Here Athleticus, whom we had met before, introduced us to his proteges, the members of the Ballius family: Basket, Foot, Base, and Volley. Our old friend, Mr. Bergstrasser, now invited some of us to take major parts in his grand spectacles, "Chonita" and "The Mikado." Among those invited were Samuel Weissbuch, Herbert Edelman, and George Goebel.

We finally reached the last lap of our journey, Seniorius. We had become thoroughly acquainted with our course in the heavens, and our ship seemed to be safely directed toward our ultimate goal, Graduation. Doyle Gray became editor of the Heavens newspaper, and Bill Watson took over the reins of the Leading Sun, while others of us attained important positions. Our prominence was due to the fact that Seniorius was the most important planet in Roosevelt, and those of us having the perseverance and ability to reach it with some distinction were in the strongest light that the stars gave forth.

Leaving Seniorius we donned Cap and Gown, and, to the stately notes of "Pomp and Circumstance," entered the harbor of our long-sought goal. Our four-year journey was completed. With diploma in hand we set out upon the still longer journey of life.

Class Prophecy

American flags draped against the walls, crowds of people, blaring trumpets, loud cheers, noise and confusion—a political rally!

The huge mob assembled at the Stadium shouted itself hoarse as Leonard Brown, mayor of Chicago, introduced the presidential nominee of the Republican party, the Honorable Herbert Edelman, Governor of Illinois. On the platform, also, were Thomas Fitzpatrick, state's attorney, who had tackled the big problem of kicking corrupt practices out of politics, and Benjamin Gdalan, Irving Stolar, and Harold Dubow, who are following the right track and running for county offices.

Glancing over the cheering crowd, we notice Warren Plath, magician, famous for performing the very difficult feat of drawing money from a bank; Beatrice Caddick, artist, whose originals are on exhibit in the Rogues' Gallery; Philip Baum and Marvin Paul, reknowned criminologists, who have recently completed a text entitled, "How to Five Finger with Four Fingers"; Herman Snyder, research worker in straight lines, who solved the eternal problem of making both ends meet; and that pretty widow, Muriel Lehman. Playing Romeo to Muriel is handsome Seymour DeKoven, current movie idol.

Occupying a nearby seat in the immense auditorium is Jeanette Robin, notorious for her many marriages, who is "chirping" to that well-known man about town, Leon Glassner, recently named the world's most eligible bachelor by Evelyn Spector, glamorous movie queen.

Present also are Alice Humecki, internationally known physician, and James White, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company. With these two are Samuel Ronald Weissbuch, greatest interpreter of Shakespearean roles in the contemporary theatre; Al Freedman, conductor of the hottest little band in town; and Roselyn Leibovitz, secretary to the Honorable Mr. Edelman.

In the balcony are seated still more celebrities. In a box to the left of the stage are Sophie Donine, concert pianist; Peggy Schiller, noted psychiatrist, whose I. Q. is higher than Professor Einstein's; and Irene Grabowicz, highest paid model on Broadway.

To the right are Irving Kossy, sports announcer; Lilliam Sorkin, author of this year's Pulitzer Prize novel; Harvey Nathanson, Alfred Isaacson, Julian Kanner and Marshall Dubin, who are engaged in writing the unwritten law; and Lorraine Barsella, who has the distinction of being the only woman ever allowed to play baseball on the House of David nine.

Behind them are Norma Cristol, dramatic art instructress; Marjorie Schulz who, along with Sidney Shultz, forms the graceful dance team known as "Schultz and Likewise"; Beverly Jacobson, stylist, who conducts a column in a local paper called "Design For a Living"; and Virginia Wood, premiere danseuse of the Ballet Russe.

Henrietta Chern, supervisor of a home for widows and orphans of Roosevelt graduates; Arthur Fingerhut, "little big shot" in local political affairs; Doyle Gray, Olympic swimmer; and his pretty wife, Virginia Pomazal, are also in the audience. With the Grays are a group of former Roosevelt scientists: James Weiner, LaVerne Erickson, Carl Poch, Annette Rieger, and Robert Baum, who have remained together professionally at the Static Stabilizer of Statistics Institute where they computed that three-fourths of the mice in half the world have at some time or another grown three-inch tails. LaVerne is talking to William Watson, the well-known jockey, who is accompanied by a dazzling red head.

Sitting near Big Bill are Verna Karas, the outstanding beauty of this fair land, and often referred to as the best-dressed woman in the country; Virginia Andresen, champion swimmer; and that infamous trio composed of Irving Kleiman, Eli Mayzel, and the debonair Harold Rosenthal. Irv is the brain, Eli the "stooge," and Harold the dandy of the outfit. That empty seat beside Vera is being reserved for Bill Benziger, landscape gardener, who is an authority on how to adorn a football field by scientific methods.

We also see Elaine Greenberg, she who introduced spit curls to the Fiji Islands; Sharlee Friedman, concocter of pink fudge; and Melvin Lowe, professor of ways and means of wasting time, seated nearby.

The faces of George Cierny, winner of an international pie-eating contest; Lillian Cramer, chorus girl; and Minerva Weiner, the first lady in this land to start wearing eyebrows which form a semi-circle, can also be seen.

But wait! "Curly" is commencing to speak!! He states, "I want, to begin with, to give my reasons for advocating the 'Share-the-Work' plan put forward by my colleague, George Goebel. In the first place . . ."

Class Will

We, the members of the Class of February, 1937, of the Roosevelt Senior High School in the City of Chicago, County of Cook, State of Illinois, taking advantage of our temporary condition of unquestioned sanity, do bequeath to those we leave behind, the things real and personal which we have always wanted and never had.

To Mr. Gaffney: More and greater "Honor for Roosevelt."

To Mr. Ockerby: A time clock to check those 4A's who are late for division.

To Mr. Hacker: An undisturbed forty minutes with a class.

To Mr. Schulz: Mussolini's sixty-foot by forty-foot office.

To Mr. Bergstrasser: A soprano section so good that the expression "dumb sopranos" will become obsolete.

To Mr. Alton: The task of moulding a football team without the Benziger clan.

To the Faculty: The inexhaustible fund of information they have acquired from our exam papers with the hope that it will help them to understand the great truths of life.

To the Roosevelt Owls: New neckties and a substantial amount of nourishing seed.

To the Weekly: An editor's desk for every reporter and an April Fool issue once a month.

To the Hall Guards: A system of stop and go lights and individual over-stuffed sofas.

To the Rough Riders: The patent to a non-slip football.

To the Excuse-forgetters: That haven of "Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men," the adviser's office.

To the Beautiful Girls: The memory of Paul Rasmussen.

To the Seniors: The advice,

"Gather ye rosebuds while ye may,
Old time is still a-flying."

To the Juniors: Our most graceful accomplishment, bluffing exams.

To the Sophomores: The reminder that extra-curricular activities do not carry major credit.

To the Freshmen: Any little thing their hearts desire, and ours don't, plus the consoling thought that some day "the last shall be first."

To the Roosevelt High School: Our gratitude and loyalty.

We do hereby appoint as executors, the Boys' Council, who, we hope, will take time off from reading "Snappy Stories" to establish our last will and testament as unwritten law for our Alma Mater.

In witness whereof, we now set our hand and seal on this, the twenty-fifth day of January, the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred thirty-seven.

A club for Roosevelt lettermen was organized in May, 1930, under the name of the "R" Club. The object of this organization is to promote good sportsmanship and interest in athletics, and to aid the athletic department with tournaments and intra-mural sports. As a part of this program, the "R" Club has prohibited the wearing of any letters other than those of Roosevelt.

The "R" Club has successfully fulfilled its aims by sponsoring track, basketball, and swimming tournaments, all of which were planned and guided by the club sponsor, Mr. Seyller.

The "R" Club closes each semester with a banquet for its members.

The present Student Council at Roosevelt is divided into five parts: the four sectional groups, freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior; and the Supreme Council, which consists of delegates from the sectional councils and from the various clubs and organizations of the school.

Concerns of the individual classes are taken care of at the sectional council meetings. If it is believed that something of moment to a particular group has school-wide significance, it is carried to the Supreme Council by the two delegates from the sectional group concerned. Here it is discussed and such action as the Supreme Council deems wise is taken. This system has proved highly successful because it gives every group an equal opportunity to express its opinion.

To develop an honor point system enabling students to procure "R" letters for outstanding achievement in extra-curricular activities was the principal aim of the Student Council this semester. To reorganize the various clubs and assign printed charters to those which proved to be in good standing was another important objective.

The reorganization and chartering of the various school organizations was carried out successfully. An honor point system, however, was not completed; for a delay was caused by a question which arose relative to hall guard duty. Whether to give credit or honor points for such service is the issue at present. To settle the point to the satisfaction of all concerned will become the duty of the next Council, which will work, as the present one has, to secure the greatest good for the majority of the students at Roosevelt.

The Civics Club

President	William Watson

Secretary	Bobbe Deutsch
Treasurer	Dorothy Granger
Student Council Delegates	Betty Smith, Jeanette Robin, Cyril Farfel

Each semester the Civics Club contributes more to the well-being of Roosevelt than any other organization in the school.

Its activities, made possible by dues, are varied and numerous. An entertainment of a cultural nature is given during the second quarter of each semester for the benefit of all members. Closely following come the Freshman-Sophomore and Junior-Senior socials.

The close alliance of the Civics Club with the Student Council enables the school, as a whole, to enjoy much that would otherwise be impossible because of lack of funds. With the financial aid of the Civics Club, extra-curricular activities too numerous to mention are carried on. Among these is the Student Council Conference Day, which is held yearly at Roosevelt under the auspices of both organizations. The Civics Club is also directly responsible for many of the assemblies, notably the Lincoln-Washington, Memorial, and Armistice programs.

It is governed by a board of seven students, elected by the student body. It is deemed an honor, indeed, to be an official of a club which is continually proving its worth in student affairs.

A project world-wide in its scope, devoted to the fostering of good will between nations, the International Drawing Exchange has been at work for almost nine years.

Mr. Walter G. Hjertstedt, drawing instructor, formed the organization at Roosevelt High School, in March, 1928, with the aid of his pupils. His plan was the exchange of mechanical and architectural drawings with students of secondary schools throughout the world.

The exchange has succeeded in helping to "bring about international understanding through the medium of the school, and thus develop toward the people of other countries a spirit of tolerance and friendly co-operation."

Leaders in all walks of life have realized the importance of the organization's work, and have commended Mr. Hjertstedt. Publications have given much helpful publicity. Exhibits have been set up all over the world. More important, art students of all nations have gained the benefit of exchanging work, and thereby promoted the spirit of fellowship so necessary to international amity between the world's future citizens.

The Hall Guard System

OFFICERS

Chief	Sidney Schultz
Assistant Chief	Ralph Susman
Assistant Chief	Marjorie Schulz
Head Secretary	Catherine Putnik
Assistant Secretary	Betty Smith
Associate Assistant Chief	Minerva Weiner

Hall Guard members make up one of the most important groups at Roosevelt. This organization was started at Hibbard about fourteen years ago by Mr. E. H. Schulz, who has been the faculty adviser ever since. The hall guards have the important duty of directing all fire drills. They are also responsible for the general order in the corridors throughout the school day and for that in the lunchroom during the lunch periods. The officials of the system act as guards on duty at all assemblies.

A chief who is a junior fire marshal is the head executive. He works in cooperation with two assistant chiefs, a boy and a girl. Sidney Schultz holds the chief office at the present time, while Margie Schulz and Ralph Susman are his assistants. An Associate Assistant Chief, Minerva Weiner, has been added to the force this semester. There are also two secretaries, Catherine Putnik and Betty Smith, who record the daily marks of the guards and issue the grades at the end of the semester. Each period is supervised by a captain and three lieutenants, one for each floor. The entire responsibility for the efficient functioning of the system does not rest upon the shoulders of one person, but is divided among the members. With the help of the student body, the hall guards have been able to build up one of the finest systems in the city.

The Girl Reserves

President	La Verne Erickson

Secretary	Sadie Billings
Treasurer	Alice Humecki
Sponsor	Miss Badger

Each semester the Girl Reserves, who are the youngest group of the Y. W. C. A. and who aid in carrying on the work of that organization, extend to each girl at Roosevelt a hearty invitation to join them.

A Girl Reserve is one constantly storing up or reserving those qualities and attitudes which will better enable her to find and fill her place in her world.

The Girl Reserve symbol is a triangle within a circle. The triangle represents the three-sided life of the individual: intellectual, spiritual, and social. The circle is the world in which she lives. As she, by her triangle, expands, the circle of her world, too, will grow.

Service and pleasure constitute the aims of the Girl Reserves. Therefore, the organization provides its members with many opportunities for both. Every member has an actual part in the activities of the club which are carried on by groups known as "triangles," for each girl is a member of one of these. Thus, the club offers an opportunity to every girl to become a personality who will, in later years, secure and maintain her rightful place in life.

Because it has been found that ignorance is the forerunner of racial prejudice and intolerance, the Jewish Youth League has sought to acquaint the high school student with the life and manners of the Jew. Since its origin in 1926, Roosevelt's J.Y.L. has successfully carried out its program of providing a medium through which the Jewish and non-Jewish youth of the school can meet and discuss their mutual problems.

The group is affiliated with the Jewish Youth Alliance, a city-wide organization, and is also connected with the Chicago Board of Jewish Education.

In addition to promoting a cultural program, the J.Y.L. has also carried out a social one. Feeling that the social life of the Jew is as expressive of his character as is his culture, the Jewish Youth League has done its utmost to provide opportunities for the expression of this phase of his personality.

Under the guidance and sponsorship of Miss Elisabeth M. Waters, the J.Y.L. has grown until now, with a membership of over two hundred fifty, it is the second largest club in the school and the largest of its kind in the city.

Secretary	Ferrel Phelps
Treasurer	Robert Lange
Student Council Delegate	Sidney Schultz
Sergeant-at-Arms	Robert Fries
Adviser	Donald I. Naden

The Hi-Y Club is an organization which is affiliated with the Y. M. C. A. Its main function is to create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character.

The Roosevelt Hi-Y has, for the past three years, sent delegates to city, state, and national Older Boys' conferences. It has been a member of the Chicago Hi-Y Council for the same period, many of its delegates having been elected to office in that body. At present, the offices of first vice-president of the State Conference and vice-president of the Hi-Y Council, are held by a member of the club.

The club strives to promote its platform of the "Four C's": CLEAN SPEECH, CLEAN SPORTS, CLEAN SCHOLARSHIP, and CLEAN LIVING, in an attempt to help the members to become better citizens.

To further the objective, the club sponsors many private social functions. Many educational and entertaining trips are taken each semester to acquaint the members with different occupations and modes of living. Moreover, the club seeks to support the school in its curricular and extra-curricular activities.

In the three years that Mr. Donald I. Naden has been adviser of the Roosevelt Hi-Y Club, it has become one of the leading Hi-Y Clubs of the world. It owes its present status to the ability and understanding of its adviser.

The 209 Secretaries constitute one of the oldest organizations in the school. These girls work in what is known as Student Activity Office or "209", where they gain valuable all around experiences as typists, stenographers, and managing secretaries. It is considered a high honor to be allowed to enter the office in this capacity. Every girl must have a minimum average of 85, with no subject below 80. One girl is head manager, and the office of head secretary is one eagerly sought after by those best qualified.

The Student Activity Office handles and supervises practically all student activities that are outside of the class room, with the single exception of athletics. These activities include the issuing of bulletins; various typing jobs; mimeographing; taking of dictation; financial supervision of the Weekly, Civics Club, Annual, and all special drives for charities, etc.; arranging assemblies; the daily clean-up system; the hall guard system; etc.

The office operates under the sponsorship of Mr. Schulz and Miss Waters.

The Spanish Club

President	Vernon Olson
Vice President	Florence Walter
Secretary	Bernice Matjasic
Treasurer	Barbara Peterson
Student Council Delegate	Kenneth Kotal

Continuing under the successful sponsorship of Miss Marguerite Ullrich, the Spanish Club has had an eventful semester. Behind it was the impetus of previous achievements and a desire to keep the club up to the standards set by former members.

The club has endeavored to foster friendliness and an exchange of ideas among the Spanish departments of the various North Section high schools. With representatives from Spanish clubs and classes of other schools as guests, the club served Spanish style refreshments, presented entertainment that was typical of the club, and gave a brief resumé of its activities.

At Roosevelt, the club has constantly tried to further general interest in the Spanish language and in Spain's history, music, geography, legend, and present-day life. It has encouraged further proficiency in Spanish by offering a group of students a chance to converse in that language without being afraid of committing errors that would lower their grades.

The club looks forward to next semester, hoping for greater success, increased membership, and growing recognition throughout the city as well as at Roosevelt.

The Boys' Council

President	Harve Nathanson
Vice President	Seymour Chaplik
Secretary	Irvin Zelitzky
Treasurer	Forrest Wolf
Student Council Delegate	Raphael Ezgur

The Boys' Council took its place in school life under the name of the Dean's Council of Boys. Its purpose is to aid in supervisory, advisory, and recreational work with the boys of the school. This group, which meets in the Boys' Council office, room 137, is composed of the most trustworthy and capable boys of the school, carefully selected from the 3B class. The members usually spend a period a day, without credit, working on the task of at least one of the various committees. The Council first evolved the idea of scholarship awards, and for the purpose of recognizing scholastic achievement, organized and maintains the Honor Society. At present it is working toward the formation of a Roosevelt chapter of the National Honor Society, the plans for which are in the hands of a special committee which has the aid of a faculty committee as well.

In keeping with the idea of aiding boys to get the most pleasure and profit from their stay at Roosevelt, the Good Fellowship Committee carries on Freshman meetings; this committee also holds many individual conferences with boys, especially with lower classmen. Other minor committees carry on the tasks of selecting members and providing tours, the climax of which is the annual trip to the Indiana Dunes. The task of supervising the numerous Council activities lies in the hands of one of the most capable of the Roosevelt faculty, Jonathan A. Hacker, who provides the incentive and encouragement necessary to the success of such an organization.

The Secretarial Training Class

Secretarial Training at Roosevelt represents the fifth semester of stenography. The purpose of this one-semester course is to provide a business laboratory in which the student may apply practically those principles which he has already learned in other commercial classes. In such a laboratory he also acquires further useful information which it is difficult to gain while he is mastering the technique of shorthand and typewriting.

A careful study is made, from the secretarial point of view, of representative lines of modern business. Each student selects the kind of work in which he is most interested—so that the class as a whole is working singly or in groups upon many different lines of work. A budget containing the technical terms and their definitions, also pertinent and significant facts about each business with sample letters that have actually been used by representative firms, is prepared by each student. As soon as one budget is finished, it is marked and filed away and another one started. When a student finishes the course, he has a practical, usable knowledge of fifteen or twenty kinds of modern business.

Many students from this class are assigned to administrative assistants and to sponsors of activities as private secretaries where they give real and vital service to the school.

The Main Office Secretaries

All students who work as secretaries anywhere in the school outside of 209 are included in the group called main office secretaries. This group is usually made up of honor roll students who give their services unselfishly to the school. In exchange they get valuable experience and training in varied phases of office work on which, after leaving school, they are often able to capitalize. In the main office they serve as information clerks, giving courteous attention to parents and visitors. They prepare the daily absence bulletin, distribute the mail, answer telephones, file, hand out supplies to the teachers, and help the clerks in many ways.

The International Drawing Exchange draws its secretaries from this group. They write letters to all parts of the world. Harriet Swedek and Lucille Watson from the Secretarial Training class have taken the responsibility for this important work this semester. At times they have had so much work that they have needed the services of the entire class in cutting stencils and duplicating work to be mailed to many places.

Many of these students assist the registrar in the enrollment of transfers from other city schools and from the outside. They write all letters asking for outside credits—and file these credits as they are received. They also record all speed tests and units of work for the classes in typewriting, so that each member of these classes is able to note his daily progress from the bulletin board.

Each of the Administrative Assistants has several secretaries from this group who do correspondence work and perform many and varied office tasks.

The services of secretaries are recognized by the school by the granting of one-quarter of a major credit, also by recommendations for honors, and for positions obtained after leaving school.

The Roosevelt Weekly

Editor	Doyle Gray

Literary Editor	Lillian Sorkin
Sports Editor	Philip Moss

A school, like a great city, is a center of activity. And like every city, it must have its newspaper to record local occurrences. The Weekly is the organ by means of which the four thousand or more students of Roosevelt High School keep in touch with the many events which occur daily in and about the school.

"A worthwhile paper for a worthwhile school," is the slogan of the Roosevelt Weekly, and it has done its best to live up to it. That its efforts have not been in vain, is evidenced by those certificates showing the international honor ratings it has received from Quill and Scroll.

The members of the staff are chosen from the journalism classes by Miss Tinker, journalism instructor and staff sponsor, who, for fourteen semesters, has given the students studying and working with her the basic essentials of newspaper work. The result has been a paper worthy of the school it represents.

MAURICE KAPLAN '37

Here's hoping that in the near future you'll be sitting behind
one of the "Phil Osterbach, Osterbach & Osterbach's" desks at the enterstereographer. May you derive much happiness in the very near future
